

Time to Upgrade Your Boot Collection with Kanye West New Yeezy Boots

Make heads turn with the new Kanye West and Adidas Yeezy boots launching sometime in 2020, available at all adidas stores and online. Let Kanye West give you your new favorite shoes.

Words by Jeanine Carter on October 16th

Photo by sneakernews.com, k

Contrary to the past attempt at a boot line, Kanye makes a second attempt at a boot collection. Kanye West and Adidas are releasing new boots; the Yeezy 1020 and the Yeezy 1050 v3. Promised to be your new favorite shoe in 2020. The reveal of his new collection comes right after opening his new HQ in Wyoming.

Photos reveal that there are only small upgrades made on the Yeezy 1050 v3's and there is nothing entirely new about them. Featuring a combat styled boot in neutral colors with a subtle color change at the top and laces.

The same doesn't go for the Yeezy 1020's, these boots are a better resemble of the rest of the collections in the Yeezy brand. With a two-tone neon orange color, ballistic texture and finished with a zipper, these boots will be your new favorite.

Although his first release of boots didn't stand up in the eyes of shoe lovers, West decided to try again. Merging the best of both worlds with an in-between of sneaker and boot. News on the release date hasn't been announced yet but hopefully it isn't far behind the leaked information.

